

Improving Team Productivity

Overview

As a leader, motivating and keeping your team on track to reach targets is a large part of your role. To be able to do this effectively, it's important that you are learning new strategies, gaining new skills and then passing that on to each team member, creating a positive trickledown effect of professional development.

To support your team's productivity, this workshop will focus on developing your role as a leader and providing you with practical strategies to use yourself and to pass down to your team. We will delve into how your team works, what they do best, and where their weaknesses are to create unique strategies that will work for you.

Course content

- Gain a stronger understanding of your role and expectations as a Leader
- Fully understand who your team members are and where their strengths & weaknesses lay
- Use the Super Worker scale to understand where more attention needs to be paid
- Gain practical time management tools to improve efficiencies
